Chamber to host candidate forum

BY D.C. HARVILL

The Hancock County Chamber of Commerce is holding a public forum for the candidates running for the supervisor posts in Districts Three and Four.

The District Three candidates forum will be 7 p.m. Tuesday, November 1 at the Hancock County Fairgrounds.

The forum for District Four will be 7 p.m. Thursday, November 3 at the same location.

The candidates will be asked to respond to five questions with which they will have been provided prior to the forum. Answers will be limited to two minutes.

If there is any available time after each candidate has had an opportunity to respond to the questions, they will be permitted to comment on any other issues they feel are of interest.

The previewed questions will be:

—This county will soon be without its sanitary landfill. What are your ideas for solving our garbage disposal problems?

—Do you support county building codes and/or county zoning ordinances? Please explain.

—Do you support the county unit system? Regardless of your answer, what do you think is the best way to allocate county funds for the maintenance of roads and bridges?

—The sand beach can be a great asset to our county. Do you see a need for additional beach front recreational facilities? Please explain.

—If any, what types of county-wide consolidation, such as fire protection, law enforcement, government or school, would you recommend?

"We are looking forward to this event which we feel will benefit the voters and the candidates," Chamber president

Rick Eagan said.

Twelve candidates are vying for the District Three office: Margaret Ladner, Howard Lizana, Lisa LeBon Coward, Keith Shaw, Roger Joe Ladner, Hilda Bourg, Clifton Saucier, Bill Whitfield, James Kasper, Florence Gorman, Charles Sciana and Lloyd Anderson.

Nine are in the District Four race: Jim Odom, Albert Biehl III, Kelvin Shulz, Harry Favre, Martin DeSalvo Jr., Wilmer Seymour, John Wilkerson, Billie Fay Lyons and James Drummond.

The election for the supervisor posts is November 8.

Grand Jury re-indicts Joseph

BY DENA BISNETTE

A Pass Christian attorney has been re-indicted in the Dec. 22, 1987 murder of his wife.

Melbourne E. Joseph was one of the 74 people indicted by a Special Hancock County Grand Jury earlier this month.

Joseph's indictment was among those quashed after Circuit Judge James Thomas found recently that the January 1988 Hancock County Grand Jury had been improperly recessed and recalled before returning its indictments. The multi-count indictments involved were redone in June but again had to be thrown out.

Joseph is accused of using his car to ram his estranged wife Diana Joseph's vehicle into a telephone pole, resulting in fatal injuries to the woman.

David Scaffidi of Bay St. Louis was indicted on a charge of accessory after the fact. After Joseph left the scene, Scaffidi allegedly gave the man a ride home despite knowing that he was accused of committing a felony.

Jimmy Wayne Morton of 885 West Ocean Street was also indicted on a murder charge. Morton allegedly shot Lewis "Pete" Myers Jr., also of Shoreline Park, on June 7.

Among those of the other 74 indictments which have already been served as of Friday afternoon, according to the Hancock County Sheriff's Department, were:

—Kyle Becker, 218 Corinth Drive, Bay St. Louis, two counts, sale of controlled substance;

—Susie Becker, 218 Corinth Drive, Bay St. Louis, two counts sale of a controlled substance;

—C.J. Saucier, two counts sale of controlled substance, one count conspiracy to sell controlled substance;

—Randy Williams, Sweeney, Texas, two counts sale of controlled substance, one count conspiracy to sell controlled substance;

—Gerald R. Greenfield, Route One, Box 208, Pass Christian, four counts burglary of a dwelling, two counts grand larceny;

—Steve Allen Adams, Louisiana, two counts sexual battery;

—Wilbert Dorsey Jr., Washington Street, Bay St. Louis, five counts, sale of controlled substance;

—William Vonture, 752 Washington Street, Bay St. Louis, one count sale of controlled substance, one count sale of counterfeit substance;

—George M. Nami, 240 Central Avenue, Waveland, one count possession of controlled substance, three counts sale of controlled substance;

—Wilder Bobby McGowan, three counts sale of controlled substance;

—John Joseph Dedeaux, 623 Kellar Street, Bay St. Louis, receiving stolen property;

—Grayling Wilkerson, 140 Shelia Drive, Bay St. Louis, two counts burglary of a dwelling; William Washington, 420 Washington Street, Bay St. Louis, two counts sale of controlled substance;

—Leon Rodriguez Gonzalez, possession of controlled substance with intent to distribute;

—Jesse Reid Martin, Walker,

WAVELAND POLICE OFFICER David Stepro points to two gravestones recently turned in by a Waveland resident who found them in his yard. The one on the left is for an infant and the other is for a dog. Anyone who can help the police return the stones to their owners should call the police department at 467-3669. (Echo staff photo by Dena Bisnette)

Grave marker owners sought

BY DENA BISNETTE

The Waveland Police Department is seeking the owners of two gravestones.

Officer David Stepro said the police would like to see the two stones returned to their rightful places and have so far been unable to locate the owners.

Both appeared at a Waveland residence while the occupant was away recently and are believed to be part of a prank.

"We think one of them may have come from a pet cemetery because the writing indicates that it was probably for a dog. The other one is for an infant," Stepro explained.

The white marble stone from the infant's grave reads only "Infant Herbert."

"We're more concerned with the infant's stone, but somebody must have thought a lot of their dog to spend money on such a nice stone,"

The pet's stone, which has the inscriptions highlighted in black, bears the words "Toby, Nicole's Golden Tobias, June 10, 1981-Dec. 27, 1983, Our buddy and faithful friend."

Stepro said he had made an attempt to trace the dog's stone through the American Kennel Club's New York office because the expensive marker and style of the name on it indicated a registered dog, but the organization could not trace the name.

Anyone with information about the stones may call the police department at 467-3669.

The police department also needs information about a marble statue of the Madonna removed from Fayard Cemetery by vandals.

Two other items, a marble bible and a cross, had also been taken but have been recovered, Stepro said.

QUOTABLE QUOTES

By Ellis C. Cuevas

Many Halloween festivities have already been held, yet there should be a lot of trick-or-treating on Monday. Hancock Medical Center and the American Legion Auxiliary Unit 139 want all youngsters to enjoy Halloween.

Hancock Medical Center will x-ray trick-or-treat candy for metal objects from 6:30 to 9:30 p.m. on Halloween. The kids will get to keep their x-rays and also receive refreshments.

Now we know there will be a lot of trick-or-treating on DeMontluzin Avenue in Bay St. Louis, as well as other area streets.

This will mean a large number of children will be walking our streets on Monday night. It is hoped that all children will be accompanied by an adult.

Motorists should be extremely careful if they have to travel the streets on Halloween night.

There are many Halloween safety tips, and one of the most important is for parents to warn their children not to eat any treats until they are examined for metal objects and tampered wrappers.

We hope all children will have a happy and safe Halloween.

If you have not turned your clock back one hour before going to bed last night, it is an hour earlier than you think.

Today is time change day, and I still remember the instructions I received from a few folks the time I goofed on the direction to turn the clock several years ago.

I now use the fall backward and spring forward formula to keep me straight.

It seems every few years a fisherman catches an Atlantic sturgeon in our waters.

As most fishermen know, an Atlantic sturgeon is currently listed on the Mississippi endangered species list.

This means it is illegal to take, possess, transport, export, process or sell an Atlantic sturgeon.

Biologists say a sturgeon represents the oldest lineage of bony fishes, with ancestors going back hundreds of millions of years.

The Pearl and Pascagoula Rivers are the main spawning areas for the Atlantic sturgeons on the Gulf.

We are glad the one caught by a gill-netter last Tuesday near Bayou Cadet survived the ordeal.

Hancock County RSVP members are now in the process of accepting applications for holiday assistance to the needy.

RSVP members will begin taking applications for Thanksgiving baskets from 9 a.m. to noon on Nov. 2. The group will continue on each Monday, Wednesday and Friday until Nov. 17 for Thanksgiving.

Applications should be taken to the Valena C. Jones Complex in the office adjacent to the employment office.

Only one member of a household may make an application. There will be another acceptance of applications from Dec. 1 to 15 for Christmas baskets.

All service organizations and churches are asked to contact the RSVP office at 467-9204 for referrals to avoid duplication and to better serve more people of the county.

RSVP, as many of you know, is an agency of the United Way of Hancock County.

The President's Column

America experiencing most prosperity in recent history

Abraham Lincoln once said "you can't fool all of the people all of the time." Recently, our liberal friends have been trying to prove him wrong. They have charged that our record of lowering our taxes, ending runaway inflation, and igniting the longest peacetime economic expansion ever has been bad for middle class, working Americans. It is time to remind them of a few facts.

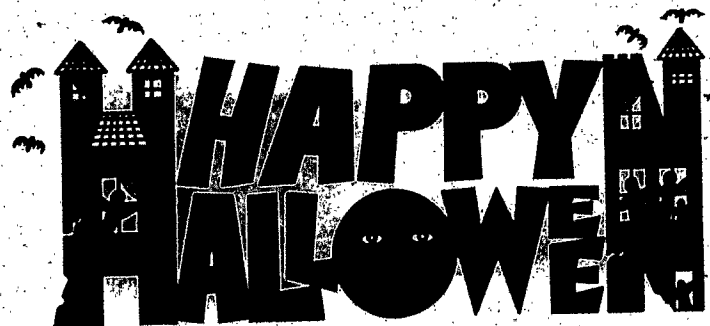

For example, the "Misery Index." The "Misery Index" was an election year gimmick they cooked up for the 1976 campaign by adding the unemployment and inflation rates. It came to 13.4 percent in 1976, and they declared that no one had a right to seek re-election with the Misery Index that high. Four years later, in the 1980 campaign, they didn't mention the Misery Index, perhaps because it had dropped to almost 21 percent. And this year they still are not mentioning it. Under the Reagan administration, it has dropped to under 10 percent.

Our liberal friends have been harping around the country about how bad the economy is, but they don't realize that their family income is no higher today than it was 20 years ago. Now, in fact, it is 14 percent higher. But why would they bring family income up at all? After all, between 1977 and 1981—maybe you can guess why I pick those years—the typical American family's income, after taking out inflation, fell 7 percent. Think of what it would mean to you and your family if somebody were to cut your family's paychecks by that much today. Think of how much less you could buy at the grocery store, the clothes you could not get for your children, how much less you could put in the plate at your church or synagogue each week. And then think of this—since 1981, when we came to office, the typical family's income, after taking out inflation, has soared more than 10 percent.

One place you can see what this change means to you is in housing. Our liberal friends have been talking a great deal about affordable housing recently. Do they not remember that in 1980, as housing prices and

FROM THE CAPITOL

By Governor Ray Mabus

Every vote counts on election day

Are you going to vote on election day?

If the answer is "yes," you deserve congratulations for planning to exercise your right as an American citizen by participating directly in your government.

But if the answer is "no," I would like to urge you to do so. It is important to you, and to Mississippi.

Often, people who choose not to vote say they simply find it difficult—because of a lack of time or transportation—to get to the polls. For some, going to the polls may seem an inconvenience.

If you begin planning now, however, you can take any inconvenience out of voting. Plan for the best time to go to the polls, and then work it into your schedule ahead of time.

And if transportation is a problem, make arrangements ahead of time to carpool with someone to take public transportation. A number of private and non-profit agencies provide free transportation to the polls.

Our democracy is government of the people, by the people and for the people. You need to vote.

There are some people who do not vote because they do not think it will do any good. I believe nothing could be further from the truth.

Not only do election results determine who takes office, it also shapes the winners' outlook on issues. That is what happened in the state election last year, when citizens cast a strong vote for candidates supporting positive change in Mississippi.

Please vote for the candidates of your choice. That is the best way to make sure that government is responsive to you, and that it works for you.

Also please remember to vote "yes" on the unit system of government. Some people have tried to make the vote on the county unit system seem complicated, but it is really very simple.

The county unit system will help county government work better. It will help prevent corruption, and it will save money. Do not be confused by what opponents claim. The unit system works.

Those counties already under the unit system of government should be congratulated.

We have worked very hard to get to this point. For the first time in a century, every citizen will have an opportunity to vote on whether they want to ensure honesty and efficiency in their county government with the county unit system, or stick with the status quo in counties that operate under the beat system.

As election day nears, please consider encouraging all your family and friends to go with you to the polls to vote "yes" on the county unit system. Voting is not a privilege, it is a duty. Do what you can to see that you and your neighbors vote on Nov. 8.

Spread the word about the county unit system. It is a vote for the future, not the past. Vote "yes" on the unit system on election day.

EYES ON MISSISSIPPI

By Bill Minor

Supervisors' power secured by Unit System Bill's wording

State Auditor Pete Johnson may have been more prophetic than many realized when he said the other day that the success of the new county unit law depends upon whether or not county supervisors want to make it work.

That observation was obscured in the crossfire which followed Johnson's release of estimates that the startup costs for 53 percent "beat" system counties to convert to the unit system would be $19.4 million.

Many advocates of the unit system, not the least of them Gov. Ray Mabus, were critical that Johnson's figures showed a distorted picture because there was no corresponding estimate on the savings that would be realized under unitized road administration.

Johnson, who made it clear that he personally will vote in favor of the proposition on Nov. 8 for the unit system in Madison County, where he now resides, contended he could not calculate savings because he had no "constant" to document them.

Regardless of the flap that Johnson set off by his controversial cost estimates for 53 "beat" counties to convert to the unit system, he raised questions that the new law is flawed to begin with in forcing counties to operate more efficiently and economically.

His contention was that savings will come from the unit system only if the individual counties follow the "spirit" of the law, and not use some of the loopholes the Legislature wrote into it.

This piqued my interest to find out what he was talking about, so I started looking at some of the wording in House Bill 4.

That's the measure which the Legislature passed in the special session in early August setting out the machinery for operating a "countywide system of road administration" in each county which approves it in the Nov. 8 referendum.

To begin with, I wanted to see if the new unit law would finally take supervisors out of the business of being road commissioners and put them into the field of legislating policy to be carried out by a county road manager.

The act provides that there shall be a county road manager and puts him in charge of the county road department. But it goes on to say "the board of supervisors may, by a majority vote...supersede any act of the road manager or change, modify or revoke any act which has been completed by the road manager," as long as it does not breach a contract.

Somewhat, I have the feeling the provision that a majority of the board can "supersede, change, modify and revoke" the road manager's decisions is going to put a lot of supervisors back in the business of managing the roads.

While the new law provides a salary of not less than $50,000 for the county road manager, it does not set any educational or professional standards other than he be "educated or experienced" in highway construction or "other facets" of county highway responsibilities.

Interestingly, only counties which were already under a unit system as of July 1, 1988 and employed the state aid engineer as also the county road manager may have the same person fill both jobs.

Ever since 1974, counties have had the authority to hire a county administrator with certain educational requirements to handle the day-to-day management of county affairs; but only 20 or so counties have done so. Many feel having a county administrator is a key to good county government management.

The new law requires counties coming under the unit system to appoint a county administrator, permitting them to name the chancery clerk if he agrees to serve. But political considerations in many counties will probably prevent that from happening.

While the law outlines a whole laundry list of impressive duties and responsibilities for the count administrator, it says the board "may" assign any or all of the functions to him. Thus it is possible for the board to have an administrator with very little powers, and his salary can be set at any figure the board chooses.

Historically, supervisors have been provided a pickup truck. But under the new unit law they may start driving Lincoln Continentals, since the law says they can be furnished transportation "as is necessary" to perform their duties.

Supervisors lose power under the county unit system? Fear not.

Side Street Crossings

By Dena Bisnette

On Friday, I went to the Waveland Police Department to take a photograph of two gravestones. They had been left in a yard as a prank and the police are trying to find the owners.

Just by coincidence, the headstones turned out to be a very timely topic with All Saint's Day coming up Tuesday. I recently had the pleasure of explaining the tradition of cleaning graves and cemeteries on All Saints Day to someone unfamiliar with that particular holy day.

The holy day is not fully a substitute for an older tradition which, in today's busy world, is dying away—that of visiting a grave at regular intervals—but it is still an excellent way to show reverence to one's ancestors, however remote or recent they may be.

My friend had two more questions for me: why don't more people participate and why is the tradition observed only once each year?

I don't know the answer to either one. All Saints Day is rather new to me as well. Before I moved to the Gulf Coast, I lived mostly in communities where mine was one of a very small group of Catholic families, and All Saint's Day therefore attracted little attention.

In a way, that's sad. I realize the custom of cleaning graves and cemeteries on Nov. 1 is rooted in a religious tradition, but so is Christmas, and crass as it may sound, Christmas is observed by many, many people who are either unaware of the Christian tradition behind it or simply don't care. Anyway, All Saint's Day activities should spread beyond a few groups of people here and there.

I'm considerably more familiar with cemeteries than with All Saint's Day. It's a funny thing but I have always attended a school within walking distance of a graveyard. There was one right across the street from my high school and one of the things kids used to do was save a roll from lunch to feed to the ducks that swam in the cemetery pond.

The junior college students were a little less reverent. Some of the girls from the dorms used to sun themselves on the long, flat stones that covered the older graves, and once a group of boys stole the Big Boy statue from the front of a Shoney's Restaurant, set it in the middle of the cemetery and threw a sheet over it to hide it until they could hoist it onto the dormitory roof. The thing was eight feet high and if anyone drove by and saw it, nobody told.

I know cemeteries are peaceful, quiet places to walk. I also know nothing looks so forlorn as a neglected grave.

Maybe the dead people don't know what kind of shape their graves are in, but graves and their markers are supposed to be a sign of respect from the survivors to the deceased anyway. A grave simply left to the elements shows disrespect or apathy.

Of course, some graves are so old there simply are no family members left to take care of them, and in today's highly mobile society, there is often no one left nearby.

Such is the case with my own immediate family. I have, in the time I can remember, lost a maternal grandfather, two paternal great-grandmothers, a great-uncle and a couple of uncles-by-marriage. All were located in other states so far away I have never even seen the graves, although through traveling I had known these people while they were alive.

Although I know there are other family members there to look after the gravesites, if there were not, I would certainly be pleased if the people cleaning the next plot decided to pitch in and pull a few weeds.

Maybe somebody will do that for a few of the dead around here.

I also have noticed the pleasure All Saint's Day can give to the living. I see families getting together to work on their plots and now and then, I even see reunions of old friends who have relatives in the same graveyard but haven't seen each other for years.

I have seen small children place flowers on the graves of ancestors they never knew and then sit under a shady oak as parents told them about the people named on the tombstones. I have seen a woman standing with a rake in one hand and a pair of clippers in the other after finishing a cleanup job and look with pride on her work.

All of these are very positive images in a world that is, unfortunately, too full of negativity and not full enough of traditions like All Saint's Day.

Combined Federal Campaign reaches half-way mark

Federal employees in the six coastal counties have reached more than half of their $600,000 goal in the 1989 Combined Federal Campaign.

As of Oct. 17, the Mississippi Coast Association of Federal Administrators charity campaign had collected $309,700. The annual campaign is the only authorized charitable fund-raising drive conducted in the federal workplace. There are more than 25,000 civilian and military government employees in the coastal area. The campaign has raised more than $2.5 million in the past five years.

Captain W. J. Zuberhuber, USN, commanding officer of the Naval Oceanographic Office, is this year's chairman of the MCAFA Combined Federal Campaign Executive Committee.

The drive aims to raise money for a wide variety of charitable organizations in the area.

Captain Zuberhuber says all federal employees in the area have a responsibility to make a difference this year. The first half is easy, the second half much harder. Your contribution is needed to reach this year's goal. "I know we can do it,"

FOR SUPERVISOR DISTRICT

As Election Day is fast approaching and I was delayed in getting my campaign underway, it is impossible for me to visit each of you personally in your homes.

I would like to take this means to ask you to consider me, the experienced candidate who is already working for the people of Hancock County as your choice for Supervisor in District Three.

HANCOCK COUNTY

interest rates skyrocketed together—one of the few times in history that has happened—and real family incomes plummeted, the American dream of owning a home almost went down for the county, and the top housing official of the previous administration finally threw up his hands in despair and said, "for many hardworking families...housing is growing beyond their reach." Yes, according to real estate industry economists, in 1980, the average American family made just over three-fourths of what it needed to buy a home. Today, with interest rates half of what they were in inflation under control, the typical American family makes over 110 percent of what it needs to buy a home. Renters are also doing better. When the liberals left office the national vacancy rates for apartments in the price range of low- and medium-income families were around 5 percent, which means it had become hard for low- and medium-income Americans to find an apartment. Today these national vacancy rates are around 8 percent, and it is the landlords who are having to wait long to find tenants. Add this all up and you see that we have more, much more, affordable housing today than we had eight years ago. You would think all these facts would give our liberal opponents pause, but apparently not. When we note that since our expansion began, America has created more than 18 million new jobs, that unemployment is nearly the lowest it has been in 14 years, and that a greater proportion of Americans are at work today than ever before in our history, the liberals blandly respond that what we need are "good jobs at good wages." Perhaps they believe that most Americans have bad jobs. I do not believe that, and, to tell the truth, I find remarks that put down honest occupations—yes, including short-order chefs—offensive, and I expect you do, too. In any event, overall, job for i.b. the jobs created since our expansion began pay more than the jobs that existed before. The liberals charge that we have given tax breaks to the wealthy. But when we came to office the wealthy were paying 19.3 percent of the federal individual income tax revenues. Now it is 26 percent. The charges go on and on, but the truth remains the same. No matter how you look at it, the last time they were in office, the liberals clobbered the American middle class—and we stopped them. Some are calling this last election opportunity campaign an attempt at "class warfare." So what? Our liberal friends have been at war with America's middle class for years. Now they want you to turn the other cheek—but will they just take that as an opportunity to really let you have it? Main Street Americans in better shape today than it has ever been. Why would we ever want to put back in the hands of those who almost turned out

Halloween pranks fun when harmless

Halloween is a time of scary tales, believing in the unbelievable, unique costumes and mischievous pranks—both harmless and harmful.

For children, the celebration is excitement, adventure and a sack full of candy. For adults and parents, the event is cause for apprehension over thoughts of littered yards, egged cars and perhaps poisoned or tampered with candy.

The tradition of playing tricks began in the late 19th century. Then, the Irish belief that the "little people" or fairies played pranks on Halloween led boys and young men to carry out practical jokes on Halloween night such as overturning small buildings and breaking windows.

During the 20th century, although practical jokes are still played, less destructive practices also have become customary. Children dress up in costumes and "trick or treat" from door to door collecting candy. Absent residents or those without treats may be punished by jokes or pranks.

It is the pranksters that warrant watching. Many teens and young adults take part in a popular Halloween prank—rolling yards with toilet paper. The pranksters used to reserve the trick for Halloween night but now begin the ritual weeks before Oct. 31.

Other popular pranks with a higher risk for injury include throwing eggs, water balloons and even rocks at cars and windows. These activities may seem like harmless fun to the pranksters, but the consequences can be serious.

Water balloons, eggs and rocks all have the potential to break glass. When thrown into a moving vehicle, this can mean broken windshields and possible injury to the driver and passengers.

Pranksters should remember that many of the favorite Halloween pranks are illegal and can result in fines or jail terms.

"For the prank to be a misdemeanor it must be committed in the presence of an officer, or a witness must be able to identify or have evidence to prove who committed the act," said Sgt. Chip Pippen, public information officer with the Jackson City Police Department.

"A witness can sign an affidavit and the suspect can be arrested for vandalism or malicious mischief, both are misdemeanors," Pippen said.

According to Pippen, misdemeanors can carry a fine, jail term or both. Guilty parties also can be made to pay for damages from the pranks.

Sgt. Richard Carleton, public relations officer with the Tupelo City Police Department, said if Halloween pranks are carried out with maliciousness (intent to harm), then pranksters will probably be charged with a misdemeanor.

"I can't recall cases of anyone being hurt, but we have had some pranks played that have the potential to hurt someone such as throwing rocks and other objects from overpasses," Carleton said.

Carleton said the Tupelo Police Department considers these pranks malicious and will charge the offenders with malicious mischief.

Both the Jackson and Tupelo Police Departments recommend "trick or treaters" make their rounds as early as possible. Jackson Police recommend returning home by 8 p.m. Tupelo Police recommend not later than 9 p.m.

For the safety of smaller children hoping to fill their treat sacks, parents should be sure the children are appropriately dressed, are in a familiar neighborhood and only go to homes that are well lit or have the porch light on.

Beth Duncan, a clothing specialist with the Mississippi Cooperative Extension Service, recommends parents choose costumes that are flame retardant and fit close to the body.

"Also choose costumes that are not too long so the child won't trip and fall," Duncan said. "Long ties and drawstrings can cause tripping too."

The specialist recommends adding reflective tape to all costumes and avoiding masks that limit vision.

Parents also should check candy carefully for any signs of tampering. If candy is suspect, throw it away. Some hospitals offer free X-rays of candy to detect the presence of foreign objects.

Halloween can be exciting and fun. Keep it a safe adventure too.

Halloween tips for parents

When your little goblins out on Halloween be sure that you have taken precautions for their safety.

* Accompany young children on their "trick or treat" rounds.

* Confine "trick or treat" for young children to the houses of people you know and during daylight hours, if possible.

* Carry flashlights; not candles or other fire hazards.

* Facial makeup is safer than Halloween masks which may obstruct a child's vision.

* Costumes should be light in color, short enough to prevent tripping and nonflammable. The addition of reflective tape is helpful.

* Instruct children not to eat treats until you have examined them. Unpackaged items, such as popcorn, should be discarded. Wash fruit thoroughly and cut into small pieces before eating. Examine candy bars closely; needles and pins can be inserted through a wrapper without disturbing it. Discard candy with loose or torn wrappers.

* If you find a harmful treat, report it to the police immediately. This might protect another child from harm.

I have checked with Hancock Medical Center, Bay St. Louis and Waveland Police Departments. Last year we had no Halloween-related problems or accidents. Let's strive for another safe holiday. "Happy Halloween."

Farm Bureau supports elected superintendents

Policy adopted by voting delegates of the Mississippi Farm Bureau Federation favors the election of county superintendents of education.

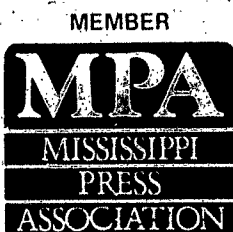

Farm Bureau president Hugh Arant spoke to a group of farmers and told them that all voters should consider the implications of appointed superintendents.

"The Superintendent of Education is responsible for preparing the school budget. The school board submits this budget request which the County Board of Supervisors is required to fund by levying the necessary millage. This usually results in an increase in ad valorem taxes."

"If the superintendent is responsible to no one except the board members, and not the people when he stands for re-election or re-appointment, then the people lose that right to protest," Arant said.

The federation president also expressed concern about the lack of qualifications for serving on the school boards. The only qualification to serve on a school board is that of being a registered voter. It is our feeling that the citizens voting in a school district are in just as good a position as the school board in making a choice of a superintendent of education," he said. "Farm Bureau supports election of officials by the people they serve. The delegates to the annual meeting of our organization have repeatedly voted to retain this principle of choice of the people." Arant continued, "The largest farm organization called on all voters to carefully consider the facts in their respective counties and then vote an informed vote."

BURGLARY ARREST

A Bay St. Louis man has been arrested and charged with burglary of a business.

According to Bay St. Louis Police Detective Tom Burleson, Grayling Wilkerson, 26, of 140 Shelia Drive, was arrested at about 6 p.m. Tuesday.

Bond was set at $5000, Burleson said.

Assisting in the arrest and investigation were Shana Corr, Robert Lee and Ricahrd Hanna, all of the Bay St. Louis Police Department.

CONVICTION OVERTURNED

The Mississippi Supreme Court has overturned the conviction of Allen Nicolaou in the Oct. 27, 1984 death of his cellmate in the Hancock County Jail.

The decision was announced on Wednesday and the state attorney general's office was given 14 days in which to request a retrial.

Nicolaou, now 23, was given a life sentence in the death of Charles Alan Poole, 24, whom he was accused of suffocating in a jail cell.

The court said that a definition of "malice aforethought" given to the jury by the Circuit Court judge hearing the trial, Ruble Griffin, was confusing. The jurors had deliberated for four hours before reporting to the judge that they could not decide between the death penalty and life imprisonment.

Griffin, now a Supreme Court justice, did not participate in the decision.

Nicolaou had to be given a life sentence under state law because he is classified as an habitual criminal. He was awaiting transfer to the state penitentiary at Parchman when Poole died.

Nicolaou had been convicted to serve two consecutive life sentences in the Jan. 27, 1984 deaths of Gerald Comiskey of Waveland and Keith McMillian of New Orleans, after the original charges of capital murder had been reduced to murder through plea bargaining.

A capital murder is a murder committed during the commission of another crime, in this case the armed robbery of Comiskey at Comiskey's home, where the deaths occurred.

Discovery May End Obesity

National Dietary Research, an organization committed to the research and development of nutritional solutions to world wide health problems, reformed in a Washington D.C. press release, "obesity may be controlled naturally with a new type of pill, discovered by accident in studies with potential cholesterol lowering agents scientists noted side effects. Patients receiving an ingredient in what is now being called FS-1 All lost weight in spite of being instructed not to alter normal eating patterns, while body weight in control groups remained constant." Scientists say the mechanism behind the weight reduction is due to a decrease in the intestinal absorption of calorie rich dietary fats and substances with a greater potential to block absorption will produce greater weight loss results.

In a comparative study by NDR, whose research topics have been the subject of articles published in recent medical and nutritional journals, FS-1 was found to be the most effective treatment for obesity and the most acceptable to patients. Because FS-1 contains only natural ingredients recognized as safe, it is available to the public immediately on a limited basis through physicians and pharmacies for $24.98 per 100 tablets.

Commission awards $31,300 grant to Hancock libraries

Mississippi Library Commission Director David M. Woodburn has announced the award of more than $2,688,849 in state improvement and personnel grants to public library systems in Mississippi.

"This amount includes a total of $150,000 in state improvement funds and $2,538,849 in personnel grants appropriated by the Mississippi Legislature," Woodburn said. The funds were awarded to 47 public library systems based on the number of counties served and the population of the service area.

"State Library Improvement Grants can fund most any worthwhile library project except construction or salaries," Woodburn explained. "The personnel grants will fund salaries. This differs from past personnel grants which funded specific positions instead of salaries. For the first time libraries will receive a block of funds to disburse among salaries as they see fit," Woodburn added.

The Hancock County Library System Bay St. Louis, Waveland and Kiln locations have received $1,779 for the purchase of library materials and $29,521 in personnel grant funds.

Goff scores 2 TDs, leads Hawks 30-8 over Tigers

BY D.C. HARVILL

Tenth-ranked and playoff-bound, the Hancock North Central Hawks plowed over the Bay High Tigers Friday night 30-8 to retain their undefeated status.

The Tiger defense was able to hold the explosive Hawks offense to a scoreless first quarter, but the Hawks took command of the game in a big way in the second quarter with two touchdowns in four and a half minutes.

The Hawks' star halfback, Terrance Goff, making good use of his blockers, dashed off a 49-yard touchdown run. Then, in what has become a Hawks trademark, they scored on a two-point conversion pass from Jeff Moran to Goff.

The second touchdown came when Goff took the ball from Moran and ran 31-yards to the endzone. Moran then kept the ball, taking it in for two points, closing the quarter at 16-0.

In the third quarter Hawks' halfback Tirus Jackson found the endzone on a 3-yard dash. Ronald Doyle took the ball to score two points.

The Tigers broke the Hawks' shutout hopes when Charles Dorsey squeezed past the Hawks' defenders for a touchdown. He then carried the ball on a 2-point play. The score was 24-8.

The Hawks deflated any contention hopes the Tigers had when Doyle picked up a Darrin Washington fumble and sprinted 59-yards for a TD. The Tigers stopped the conversion attempt. The final score was 30-8.

"I thought our defense played good, giving up only eight points. They were knocking on our door two or three times and we rose to the occasion. Offensively we were hot and cold," Hawks Coach Irvin Favre said.

"They are one fine football team; they are well coached. They played hard and we played hard. If there is a better running-back than Terrance Goff I don't want to see him; I hope he stays wherever he is," Bay Coach Bob Lumkin said. "Take away a few mistakes and we were in the game all the way."

Hancock, with a 9-0 record, is the only undefeated team on the Coast. They assured themselves a slot in the district playoffs last week when they defeated district rival George County. Next week, in their final game of regular season play, they travel to D'Iberville for a showdown that will determine who will have the home-turf advantage in the first round of the playoffs.

The Tigers, with a 2-6 record, have a go at cross-town rival St. Stanislaus Friday at Stanislaus.

IN BRIEF

A SECOND CROP

Arizona farmers are finding that raising fish in irrigation water is a profitable way to get the most out of a valuable resource. Not only does aquaculture produce a second cash crop from the water used, but fish wastes also provide a natural source of fertilizer. International Wildlife magazine reports that catfish and trout are popular among fish farmers, but tilapia is also becoming a favorite. This hearty fish tolerates extremely warm temperatures, which makes it ideally suited to Arizona's geothermal waters.

Rocks pound Pirates

The St. Stanislaus Rockchaws scored in every quarter as they rolled to a convincing 36-6 victory over the home-standing Pass Christian Pirates Friday at McDonald stadium.

Senior tailback Gino Ascani led the Rockchaw running attack as he rushed for 201 yards and scored two touchdowns, while quarterback Cedric Smith threw touchdown passes to Shannon Garrett and Scott Heitzmann.

Pass Christian scored its only touchdown when sophomore quarterback Tracy Watts hit Eric Dawkins on a 67-yard scoring strike early in the fourth quarter.

The Rocks relied heavily on the power running of Ascani as he gobbled up considerable chunks of yardage on sweeps, screen passes, and cutback runs up the middle of the Pirate defense.

SSC Head Coach Ken Lyons was pleased to get back into the win column after several close losses the past few weeks.

"We harped on consistency, intensity, and discipline this week during practice, and I guess it paid off," said Lyons. "We're a far better ballclub than our record indicates."

Pirates coach Joseph Brown has done a commendable job with a young, rebuilding team. Pass High demonstrated solid fundamentals, good team hustle, and a spirited attitude throughout the contest.

When Pass Christian began their first offensive possession at their 21 yardline and tailback Eric Dawkins swept around right then left end for two consecutive first downs bringing the ball into Rockchaw territory, the Pirates appeared ready to test the SSC defense.

But the Rocks dug in and forced the Pirates to punt, and Patrick Bonney's punt was downed on the Rockchaw 15-yard line.

SSC took over and began an 85-yard touchdown drive, highlighted by several Ascani runs which brought the ball down to the Pirate 5 yardline.

Two plays later fullback Vincent Bradley banged off left tackle for the touchdown, and Scott Heitzmann's extra point gave the Rocks a 7-0 lead with 3:35 left in the first quarter.

After Jarred McCollister returned the kickoff to the 32 yardline, Watts hit Lashan Ausmer for a first down on a quick pass, then followed with a quick screen to McCollister.

Watts' next pass was intercepted by SSC's Ken Booker at the Rockchaw 23 yardline.

The Rockchaw's next score came on a 40-yard connection from Smith to slotback Shannon Garrett with 5:36 left in the half. Heitzmann's extra point increased the SSC lead to 14-0.

When the Pirates could not move the ball, St. Stanislaus took over on their own 27 yardline with just under two minutes to play in the first half.

With :09 seconds left in the half, Smith hit Heitzmann on a 49-yard bomb, only to have the touchdown brought back due to an illegal block.

The first half ended with St. Stanislaus enjoying a 14-0 advantage.

The third quarter began with lineman Craig Sweeney fielding the Pirate kickoff and returning it to the SSC 28-yard line.

SSC then marched 72 yards for their third score of the contest, with Ascani chewing up 18, 11, and 10 yards on three consecutive carries.

Fullback Bradley banged for 8, then Ascani for 8 more, and the Rocks faced a fourth and goal from the Pirate two-yard line.

Smith elected to throw for the touchdown as he hit Heitzmann on an out-pattern. Heitzmann added the extra point to give the Rocks a secure 21-0 lead with 7:47 left in the third quarter.

The Pirates returned the kickoff to their 26 yardline, and began to march as Dawkins picked up a first down on a 12-yard gain.

Pass Christian drove into Rockchaw territory, but a fumble by Jimmy Ladner was recovered by SSC at the 37-yard line.

The Pirates defense held the Rocks and forced Sweeney to punt, but SSC's aggressive defense did not allow Pass Christian to gain any ground.

When the Rocks took over on their 40 yardline, the Rocks began another scoring drive as Smith hit Ascani on a screen pass for a 31-yard gain.

Gino Ascani led the Rocks in yardage with 201 yards for the game.

Three plays later Ascani scored when he swept left end for ten yards. With 10:00 left in the contest, the extra point snap was high but Scott Heitzmann fielded the ball and threw to John Baxter in the endzone for a two-point conversion.

The Rockchaw held a commanding 29-0 lead with ten minutes still remaining in the fourth quarter.

Pass Christian got on the scoreboard on their next offensive possession when Tracy Watts hit Eric Dawkins on a 63-yard TD strike as Dawkins gathered in the pass between several Rockchaw defenders and outraced everyone into the endzone.

The Pirates elected to try for two points, but Watts' pass to McCollister was incomplete and SSC led 29-6 with six minutes to play.

Pass Christian elected not to try an on-side kick and Bonney kicked deep to the Rocks. Taking possession at their 29 yardline, SSC marched 71 yards for their final score as Ascani picked up 21 yards on a screen pass, then followed with 23 more on an inside running play.

With 3:58 remaining, Ascani burst through the Pirate defense for his second touchdown of the night. Duncan Matheson came on to split the upright to close out the scoring, giving the Rocks a 36-6 victory over the Pirates.

Next Friday the Rockchaws close out their 1988 campaign when they host cross-town rival Bay High. The Tigers fell 30-8 to Hancock Friday night.

ASK US!

WILL FRANK HILLE'S SERVICE PROTECT MY NEW CAR WARRANTY?

YES! This maintenance may be done at any automotive service or repair establishment, not only the car manufacturer's dealership. It is essential when changing oil that you use only the quality and viscosity recommended in your owner's manual. Most 1980 and newer cars, for example, require SF/CC or SF/CD quality oil.

Frank Hille only sells oils, lubricants and filters that meet the specifications of every domestic and foreign car manufacturer.

Car manufacturers recommend frequent oil changes as the best way to reduce engine wear, expand engine life and to provide greater fuel economy. Regular maintenance including oil changes, as specified in your owner's manual, is necessary to protect your new car warranty. We also recommend that you save your receipts with your car warranty booklet. This proof of regular maintenance will satisfy your warranty requirements and can increase the resale value of your car.

Nereids remembers SJA in Waveland parade

The Krewe of Nereids paid homage to the Sisters of St. Joseph with a commemorative float in the Waveland Centennial parade held in that city recently.

Sailing from France in 1854, the Sisters endured a 56-day journey to New Orleans. They traveled by train to Bay St. Louis, where they settled in a modest four room house.

Classes were first taught in Waveland, while a school in Bay St. Louis was under construction. The Sisters would travel the four miles on foot, often in inclement weather, to a cabin used as a church where St. Clare Catholic Church now stands.

Several members of the Nereids organization attended or were affiliated with St. Joseph's Academy, and hold fond memories of their experiences there.

RELIGION

Reflections

It's the law

By Fr. Jerome LeDoux, SVD
Did the jetliner bearing Fred Lynn have to enter Chicago's airspace before midnight, or did

Fred Lynn have to report to his new ballclub, the Detroit Tigers, before midnight, August 31 in order to be eligible for the baseball playoff games?

Those questions went unanswered, but it did not matter since the plane did not enter Chicago's airspace before midnight and since Fred Lynn reported to the Tigers at 12:30 a.m.

Very cut and dry it was. Lynn will not be eligible to participate in the playoffs. It's the law. Neither the Detroit ballclub nor Fred made any waves about the judgment, because they knew and accepted that it is a reasonable law whose terms they did not meet.

That is the kind of law which we can understand and which poses no problem for us, not even when the call is ridiculously close.

However, I find it extremely difficult to say the same about the case of Robert Vaughn, former street gang member from Aurora, Illinois and currently a high school senior and "B" student at Yorkville High School in Yorkville, Ill.

After Robert had spent two and one-half months in the Illinois Youth Home in Valley View in 1985 because of gang activities in Aurora, his family moved to Yorkville the following year.

The only black among 640 students, Robert is the student council president and a star running back for the Fighting Foxes, for whom he gained over 700 yards last year.

"When I was in jail, I realized I was at rock bottom and the only way I have to go is up," he observed during an interview. He added that his ambition is to become a criminal lawyer.

At this point, the dream is about to blow up in Robert's face. He is fighting an Illinois High School Association regulation which says that he is ineligible to play organized high school sports because his 19th birthday came before Aug. 15.

"If I didn't play, it would probably hurt my chances of getting a scholarship which would be my ticket to a college education," he reflected painfully as the prospect of being cut off from football became a distinct possibility.

Sure, it's the law, and we understand that, by its nature, the law generally brooks no exceptions. However, by the same token, the law is there to safeguard the rights and welfare of high school students and to contribute to their well-being.

It appears more than evident that the law will not be frustrated if Robert Vaughn is allowed to play even though he turned 19 thirty-five days before Aug. 15. On the contrary, a former gang member seeking to make something of himself will be enabled.

The argument of Wayne Plaza, an attorney representing the high school association, sounds legalistic, flawed and cold:

"We think that Vaughn is a fine young man, but he is in clear violation of the rules, and, protesting a judge's restraining order, one person being given an exception that no one else is being given (undermines the rule itself). No doubt, there are laws which truly brook no exceptions. Yet, the weightiest laws of God and the most serious human laws aside, there should always be some leeway for the exceptional person(s) who will benefit greatly by a special opportunity to excel. After the law, it is a standard of considerable importance which preserves order, assures the rights and pressures us all to fulfill our obligations. But we will be content only when we reach beyond the law to the well-being of all.

PRM to broadcast 'War of the Worlds'

Can it be happening again? It seems like an ordinary Sunday night. But, gradually, something on the radio captures the attention of millions of listeners. Many are seized with panic at the news they think they are hearing. Martians have landed. Or have they?

On the 50th anniversary of Orson Welles' famous (or infamous) broadcast of 'War of the Worlds,' Public Radio of Mississippi will broadcast a new production of the classic thriller.

The fictional invasion is reported by 'Saturday Weekend Edition' host Scott Simon as hot-shot reporter Carl Phillips. The cast also includes Jason Robards, Steve Allen, Rene Auberjonois and a cast of thousands...of aliens!

Airing at 6:05 p.m. Sunday, Oct. 30, just in time for Halloween, this terrorizing tale can be heard locally on FM 90.3, Biloxi.

District I president Bertie Walker from Waveland and Audry Heyd, District senior vice president, also attended the meeting. This was their official visit for the year.

Secretary Julia Cerra called the roll of officers. Acting chaplain Ernestine Bradley read the opening prayer. The Pledge of Allegiance was then said by all members.

Susan Wittmann and Cathy Sutherlin were accepted for membership in the ladies auxiliary. They are the daughters of James Wittman Sr.

The minutes of the last meeting were read by the secretary. They were accepted as read. The treasurer's report was then given by treasurer Pat Necaise, and were accepted as read. Bills were presented for payment. Official communications were then read by the secretary.

Blue Jeans Garden Club

The October meeting of the Blue Jeans Garden Club was held last Thursday at the home of Mrs. Robert Ortis, Waveland.

Due to the cancellation of the September meeting caused by a hurricane threat to our area, the October meeting was scheduled an hour earlier.

The business meeting was opened with a prayer for an end to violence in the world led by Mrs. Ortis, followed by an inspirational poem, 'Take Time,' author unknown.

President Dot Feaheny began the rather long business meeting by appointing a nominating committee of three past presidents, Mrs. A. M. Thomas, chairlady, and co-chairladies Mrs. Ortis and Mrs. J. C. Goodloe to serve for election of officers during the November meeting.

President Feaheny appointed Mrs. Mary Dana and Mrs. Ortis to serve as chairladies of the Blue Jeans annual Christmas party to be held Thursday, Dec. 15.

After some discussion members voted to hold their annual Christmas luncheon and social at Diamondhead Clubhouse Restaurant.

For the benefit of new members Mrs. Frank Klein, awards committee chairlady, thoroughly explained the point system and rules governing Christmas and Thanksgiving arrangement competition to be held during the November meeting.

Co-hostesses for the luncheon and social following the lengthy business meeting were Mrs. Lucille Witter, Mrs. Danna, Mrs. Gilbert Brechtel Sr. and Mrs. Ada Schaeffer.

Mrs. Thomas won the "1/2 and 1/2."

The next meeting will be Nov. 17.

DANCE PIONEER

Funny, humane and uncompromising—all describe one of America's most engaging dance personalities: Hanya Holm.

A new one-hour special, 'Hanya: Portrait of a Pioneer,' at 3 p.m., Sunday, Oct. 30, on Mississippi ETV, profiles this choreographer and dance pioneer.

Holm is the creative genius behind vintage modern dance and classic Broadway musicals, including 'My Fair Lady.' Through a series of interviews, archival footage and reminiscences with distinguished colleagues, her career is profiled.

UPSET OF '48

Nov. 2 is the 40th anniversary of the greatest upset in recent American political history—Harry Truman's win over Thomas Dewey.

At 9 p.m., Wednesday, Nov. 2, on Mississippi ETV, the victory that was unforeseeable, the race of an unquestioning win for Dewey, is remembered in 'The Great Upset of '48.'
